Forms of evaluation

Conversations during the seminars about expectations and learning goals. The summative is the ordinary course evaluation.

Summary of the students' course evaluations

The students' views are objectively summarised here based on the various course evaluations for the course (see above). Individuals may not be named in the course report.

Summary of the evaluations of the teaching team

We felt that the course was filled to the brim with links and instructions and tried to clean up a bit and make it easier to find things. We also changed instructions to make the course more accessible.

Analysis

We have not seen the summative course evaluation.

Action plan

No action plan since we have not seen the summative course evaluation and all the changes we found necessary were made before and during the course in dialogue with the students (of course in line with the course plan).

Proposed revisions to the course syllabus

Information on course reports

The course report is an important instrument for the development of courses and programmes, as well as for guaranteeing student influence in this work. The Decision on the model for systematic education-related quality work at the Faculty of Education and Society (UTB 3.1-2017/410) indicates that course reports constitute the basis for the programme boards' efforts to systematically monitor the quality of the programme as a whole.

The Course evaluation process at the Faculty of Education and Society (UTB 3..2.2-2018/479) specifies what applies for the course report, including feedback to students.

The course report should include background information/key figures and a summary of the students' course evaluations, as well as analysis and an action plan together with any suggestions for revision of the course syllabus.

The course report is to be published in connection with other information about the course.
