Evaluation forms

The course was evaluated formatively and recurrently through oral reconciliations.

The course was evaluated summatively through an electronic survey and an oral discussion.

Summary of students course evaluations

The course included recurrent group supervisions where the progress of the course was discussed.

Unfortunately only one of the 18 students in the course completed the electronic survey. Therefore, no general conclusions can be drawn from that.

The summative oral evaluation gave a positive picture of the course and there didn't seem to be any general problems with the course.

Summary of teachers evaluation

The course worked relatively well. The guest lectures and study visits was very interesting, relevant and appreciated.

Analysis

The course has been developed in several aspects since last year. In last year's project report it was written that, if possible, more resources should be allocated to lectures/seminars before and after guest lectures and study visits, which was done this year. The course literature was also updated and efforts were made to make the course more coherent. These actions seem to have had a positive effect and there doesn't seem to be any obvious problems with the course that need solving.

Action plan

More efforts must be made to make sure more students complete the course evaluation.

Suggestions for revision of course syllabus

None.
